In each division the players are grouped into 32 charts, based on their league straight average (total balls / total games) to 2 decimal points. Players may play “up” a division, but they may not play below their team division nor may they play below their personal listed rank, as shown on the “Ranking Sheet” for players who have cashed in recent years. Example: Player x plays on a "D" team (bottom 1/3 in their league), she may play any division she chooses. Player y plays on that same "D" team, but she is ranked as an "A" player, she may not play "D" team and may only play "A" singles. Player z plays on a "B" team (top 1/3), he may not play "D" or "C" singles but is eligible in "B" or "A" singles. Please review "Player Ranking List".
